

Launching Cal State Apply from CaliforniaColleges.edu – Open Access

Students in open access school districts can launch their CSU applications from within their account on CaliforniaColleges.edu.

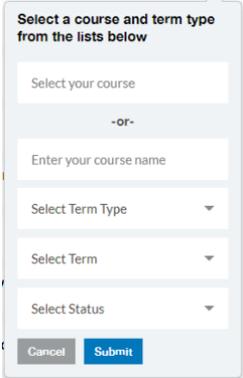

What should students do before they launch Cal State Apply?

Students can use the College Search Tool to find and favorite (♥) California State Universities (CSUs) to which they think they will apply. Favoriting colleges will add them to the student's College List in My College Plan within My Plan.

Before launching Cal State Apply, students should review their Academic Planner. By entering courses into the Academic Planner, students can transfer that information to Cal State Apply when they launch the applications from their account on CaliforniaColleges.edu.

Adding courses is simple:

1. Select a subject area and grade level.
2. Select a course from the type-look ahead menu, which is populated by courses for that subject area and grade level as indicated in UCOP's Course Management Portal (CMP), or manually enter a course. Indicate term type, term, and status. (See right.)
3. Students click Submit and the course is added to the planner.

What information can transfer from CaliforniaColleges.edu to the Cal State Apply application?

The Statewide Student Identifier (SSID), as well as academic courses and grades, migrate from CaliforniaColleges.edu to Cal State Apply.

Please note: The SSID is included in any educator-created open access student accounts. The SSID is not included in any open access student-created accounts.

What does not migrate to Cal State Apply?

No biographical or demographical data, such as name, date of birth, or address, transfers to Cal State Apply.

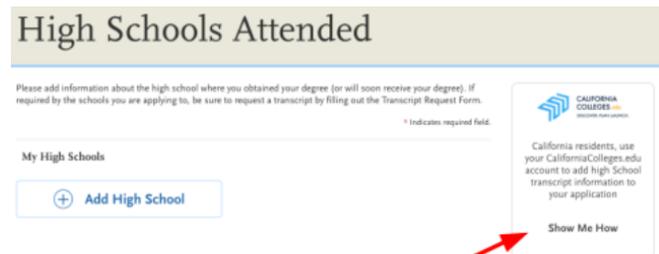

How do students launch Cal State Apply?

It is preferable for students to launch their application from within their account on CaliforniaColleges.edu, both for ease of use and for tracking purposes. However, students who choose to initiate their application from Cal State Apply will still be offered the opportunity to link their accounts and transfer their course information from their CaliforniaColleges.edu accounts.

1. Sign in to CaliforniaColleges.edu. Hover on College.
2. Click on California State University Application under Apply to College. (Students can also launch Cal State Apply from My College Plan, as well as any of the CSU factsheets found in the College Search Tool by clicking on the blue Apply button in the Admission tab.) When students initiate the launch, they will see a pop-up message to proceed to Cal State Apply.
3. Students will be taken to Cal State Apply, where they can either create an account or sign in to an existing account.
4. Once signed in to Cal State Apply, follow the directions to complete the application. When students get to the High Schools Attended section, they will be asked to confirm they want their courses from CaliforniaColleges.edu to migrate to Cal State Apply.

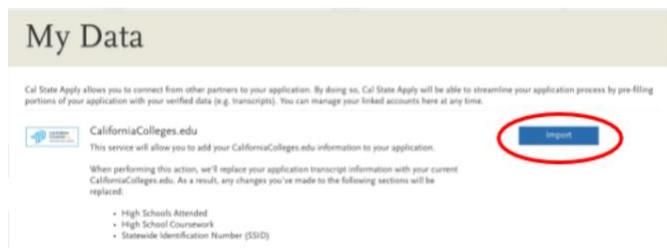

Note: if students choose to start their application from the CalState.edu/Apply platform (and not CaliforniaColleges.edu), they will still be offered the opportunity to link their account and migrate data through Cal State Apply's My Data page.

5. Then, in the High School Coursework section, students will see ALL courses from their CaliforniaColleges.edu Academic Planner. Students may delete or add courses at their discretion.
6. And, finally, for students who import coursework from CaliforniaCollege.edu, the A-G Matching section will be partially or fully complete. All courses that were chosen from the type look-ahead menu in the CaliforniaColleges.edu Academic Planner will already be assigned to "a-g" subject areas. All courses that were manually typed in will need to be assigned to subject areas by the student.
7. If students believe some of their courses are "a-g" even if they are not pre-tagged as such, they may reassign them to an "a-g" category in the A-G Matching section.
8. Continue with the rest of the application.

What happens if students start directly from Cal State Apply?

If students do not launch their application from CaliforniaColleges.edu, they can also initiate migration from the High Schools Attended page in Cal State Apply. Those students will be taken to the CaliforniaColleges.edu sign in page to either sign in or register their account. Then, they will be taken back to Cal State Apply to Import their SSID and coursework from CaliforniaColleges.edu.
